"I've known Tricia for more than twenty years. And while I knew she was very creative and engaged in many pursuits outside of her work and family life, I had no idea she was such a creative, witty writer...in a world where people often equate power and success with greed and negativity, Tricia and her writing shine through.

- Mike Hopkins, former CEO of Hulu

"Tricia has everything you could possibly want in a guest speaker ... She knows her profession well and she knows her audience well. She is enthusiastic about her work and genuinely loves to talk to the kids about it. As we know from working with kids, enthusiasm is contagious. As she displays her excitement about writing, the kids start to pick on that and get more excited for their projects, too."
